REPEATED warnings from the state auditorial department that all Arkansas counties must reduce salaries and other fixed overhead have resulted in new salary acts being placed on the general election ballot next month in about half the counties of the state.

Legion Convention at Miami Votes Payment in Cash

Committee Report Sustained Thursday on Floor of Convention

N. Y. VOTE IS BOOED

Roosevelt's Home State Casts Its 81 Votes Against Bonus

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—Immediate cash payment of the soldiers' bonus was recommended by a vote of the American Legion annual convention here Thursday.

The payment, Legion officials estimated, would require an outlay of about 2 billion dollars by the federal government.

There were some boos in the convention as certain state departments cast their vote against the bonus.

New York's solid vote of 81 against the proposal drew a round of boos.

Oppose Disarmament

MIAMI.—(AP)—Raymond J. Kelly, chairman of the national legislative committee of the American Legion, Thursday told the veterans' 16th annual convention here that "it is unthinkable that America should disarm."

"We will never agree to that," he said, "while the voice of the Legion, supported with the tragedies of unpreparedness from the past, can be heard, or the influence of the veteran felt in America."

Declaring that because of the Legion's advocacy of universal service and of adequate national defense, Kelly said "we have been attacked by pacifists, by communists, both pink and red, by organizations supported by wealthy men of the nation and by those whose profits and fortunes have resulted from the traffic in death."

"We may well be proud of the enemies we have made and of the source of criticism our program has inspired."

Emphasizing that the American Legion stands for peace, Kelly added "we are not blind."

"We are not ostriches," he said, "with our heads buried in the sand, and rumors of war still abound in the world—peace pacts and treaties are still scraps of paper. The mad European armament race has prevented our debtor nations from paying the money we loaned them."

"We see armed conflicts in every quarter of the globe, on every continent except our own, many of them inspired by the commercial elements which instigate wars for the money they can make. We know likewise the profits war produces."

"But we are not pacifists. We demand that so long as other nations insist on maintaining strong armaments that we maintain an adequate national defense."

Rail Pension Held Unconstitutional

Is Companion Measure of Frazier-Lemke Act, Also Invalid

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The measure which established a pension system for railroad employees, was declared unconstitutional in the District of Columbia Supreme Court Wednesday.

Although an appeal by the government and an eventual test in the supreme court was regarded as certain, the decision stimulated a sluggish stock market. Rail shares were in the van of a brisk advance, jumping from $1 to $3.

"The act is unconstitutional because it extends its provisions to persons not engaged in interstate commerce," declared Justice Alfred A. Wheat in his opinion.

The American Railway association in its attack upon the law asserted it affected many employees who were engaged only in intra-state commerce and that it violated the Fifth amendment by taking property without due process of law.

Passed in the closing days of Congress, the pension bill had much the same legislative history as the Frazier-Lemke farm moratorium measure. Administration leaders had neither bill upon their program but a coalition which included Senator Long, Democrat, Louisiana, and Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, put both measures through.

The Frazier-Lemke bill since has

You read in yesterday's Star the statement by Chief County Accountant J. Bryan Sims, of the comptroller's office, that during the last two years the floating debt of Miller county has increased from $4,328 to $24,671.

It is against the law for any Arkansas county judge to permit warrants to be issued in excess of current revenue—but if a condition is state-wide the law will be ignored; and you know that as well as I do.

Warrants so issued in excess of revenue are null and void—but still they are a moral obligation, and if not paid at once they will be heard from politically until they are paid.

There is no escaping the fact that when something is fundamentally wrong with a business it takes drastic action to cure it.

What is wrong in Arkansas counties is simply this: Tax assessments have declined one-third, and tax collections on the remaining two-thirds are badly delinquent; yet the county governments are still supposed to maintain a salary and overhead expense equal to boom times.

We can not go on maintaining a champagne government on beer revenues.

If we attempt it, the constitutional salaries will strip local government of all its community activities, and county scrip will fall into the hands of the pawn-broker class.

The poorest recipients of county warrants will be the hardest hit. There was a time when this condition was general over Arkansas.

We are close to that condition again today.

X X X

The county officials all over Arkansas have been going to Little Rock for the past ten years lobbying for larger salaries and preferred treatment.

Had there been some general treatment of local salaries, on a fair and just basis by the legislature, this local lobbying wouldn't have been necessary.

I think in normally prosperous times public officials are as a rule under-paid.

But when local officials found that a lobby could bring pressure on the legislature to remedy a wrong, they later did what men quite naturally do—they used the same pressure that remedied a wrong to commit an abuse.

They put up salaries and office expense too high for the tax revenue that appears available in the next several years.

X X X

Earnings of private citizens are still nowhere near the 1929 peak. Private citizens do not honestly expect that peak to be reached again in less than nine or ten years.

A compromise is the best thing, therefore, on the matter of county salaries.

Two years ago some of the taxpayers drew up a schedule which would have cut county salaries to $1,800 a year. This newspaper refused to support that program.

During the past summer, when a county salary law was about to be initiated, we warned the citizens' mass meeting that if they attempted again to make such a drastic reduction we would actively oppose it.

When the initiated salary law was finally drafted the general level was put at $2,700 instead of $1,800.

That's a good deal better. It deserves wide-spread public support.

It is being argued around the county that this measure will not reduce taxes, and there is no point therefore in adopting it.

Of course it won't reduce taxes.

California Awaits Sinclair Verdict

Business Alarmed as Socialist Runs for Governorship

Party Lines Break Down as November 6th Approaches

HE'S NEW DEALER

Upton Sinclair Won Democratic Nomination—Now Faces G. O. P.

By PAUL C. EDWARDS
Written for NEA Service

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif.—Thousands of unemployed of the nation flocking to California—Millions of dollars of capital fleeing from the state—Hundreds of lifelong Democrats de-

Washington Worried
WASHINGTON.—(AP)—President Roosevelt answered with nothing but a big smile Wednesday all questions about the California gubernatorial situation. In other Democratic quarters it was indicated the administration now is looking somewhat askance toward the campaign of Upton Sinclair, Democratic nominee.

Altogether, the situation appeared confused because of a growing division of sentiment among Democrats here toward the former Socialist's candidacy. It was emphasized again that the White House is maintaining a "hands-off" policy.

Many Democratic leaders feel that Sinclair has gone too far afield in advocating his "end poverty in California" program, particularly in view of the platform adopted by the state convention. Administration chiefs also believed that if Sinclair defeated Frank P. Merriam, Republican nominee, his victory might lead to one of two things.

First, it might cause a spread of the Sinclair ideas to the other states and thereby affect the administration's national legislative program by encouraging demands for more radical measures.

Second, the word was that his victory under the Democratic label might impede what appears to be the conservative turn of the government and thus affect chances of the party in the 1936 elections.

sorting their party and joining the Republican ranks—

Hundreds of Republicans reversing the process and joining the Democratic procession.

This is the picture, actual and conjectural, in California's gubernatorial campaign, the most amazing in the history of the state, and all because a wishy, mild-mannered, blue-eyed writing man in Pasadena published a pamphlet entitled, "I, Governor of California," and made its title begin to look prophetic by getting himself nominated for governor on the Democratic ticket.

The little man who threw this great state into such an uproar is Upton Sinclair, for 30 years a militant Socialist, author of "The Jungle" and a whole library of later books bearing holes in the established order.

State Has Jitters
Whether he will be elected, whether the tide of unemployed will engulf the state, and whether capital and industry, including the Croesus-like cinema industry of Hollywood, will leave California flat remains to be seen.

The zero hour is November 6, date of the general election. Until that day has come and gone, Californians are doomed to endure such a case of jitters as they never have experienced before.

Business is thoroughly frightened and party lines have broken down. Voters are dividing into two main groups—those who believe Sinclair is a Messiah who will lead all the unemployed out of the bondage of the depression and those who believe he will plunge the state into a Sovietized commune.

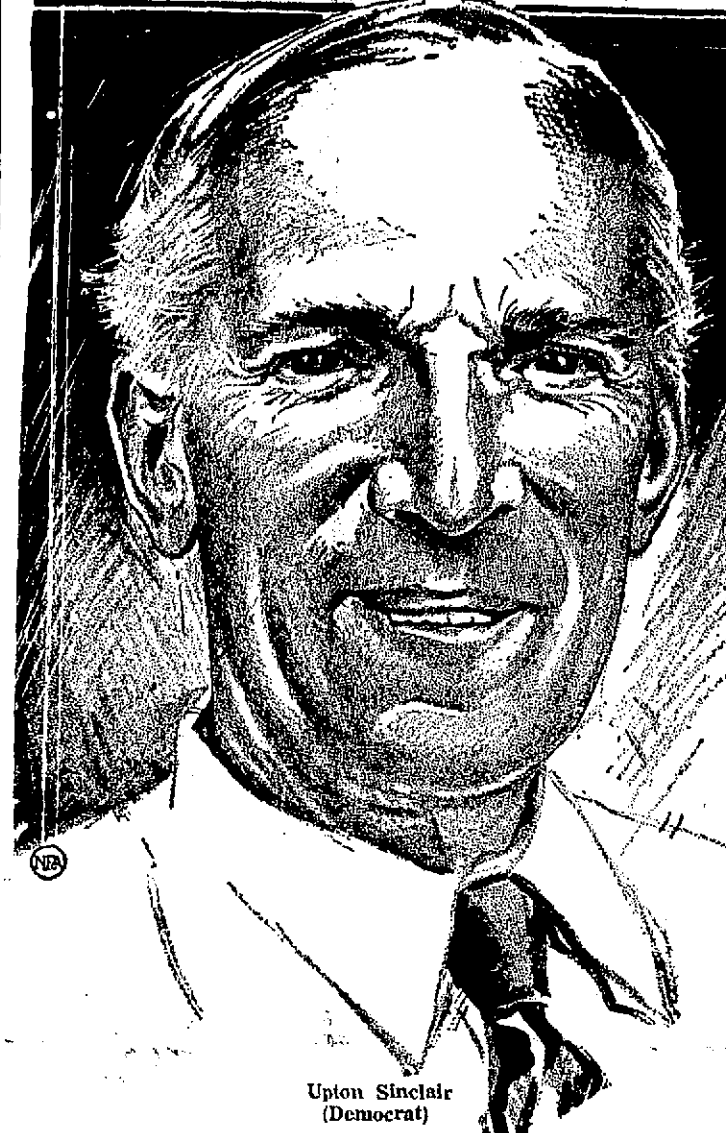

Turn to Merriam
The latter are concentrating their support behind Frank F. Merriam, acting governor since the death of the late Gov. James Rolph, Jr.

Merriam's former affiliations were with the conservative wing of the Republican party. Into his campaign army are coming Democrats and progressive Republicans who, in normal times, would condemn him as an impossible reactionary.

Further to complicate this strange situation, a third candidate is in the field in the person of Raymond L. Haight, a young Los Angeles attorney new to politics of the state. He won his place on the ballot by forming a $65,337.03 for options held by 1,900 farmers.

$48,003.88 in rental checks to 1,876 farmers.

In addition to the above amounts of money, approximately $3,349.45 was paid to farmers for surplus produce such as peas, sorghum syrup and sweet potatoes.

There will be $49,431.92 as second rental payments on reduction contracts with an additional $23,968.65 parity payment on same. Also, farmers who sold cows through the drouth relief will receive $5,817.00.

Several Killed by Mistake in Mexico's Church Expulsion Move

MEXICO, D. F.—(AP)—The first deaths resulting from the current official movement against the Catholic church in Mexico were reported Thursday from Queretaro.

The deaths were caused by mistaken identity.

Delayed dispatches said police and soldiers fired upon each other when both forces mistook the other for persons attempting to prevent the carrying out of the government order to close all churches.

Several officers were killed and many wounded.

The anti-Catholic elements, encouraged by the support of General Calles, moved to bring about the expulsion from Mexico of all archbishops and bishops.

Amended Charges in Contest Barred

Kitchens Continues His Parade of Witnesses at Hamburg

HAMBURG, Ark.—In the Wade Kitchens-Tilman B. Parks contest proceedings in circuit court here Wednesday the court ruled that all amendments to the original complaint filed after the expiration of the 20 days allowed by law would be barred unless they made the original complaint more definite and specific or enlarged upon the original.

This barred Amendment No. 9 by Kitchens and parts of Numbers 5 to 8, inclusive. The court set 5 p. m. Saturday as the time when amendments may be filed by the plaintiff and 9 a. m. Tuesday as the limit for the defense.

Mr. Kitchens pursued the same course as Tuesday, introducing witnesses from Crossett who testified that they voted for Kitchens.

Seventy-eight witnesses were heard Wednesday. The purpose of all testimony introduced was an attempt to show the certification made by the Democratic County Committee and as testified to by one of the judges at the Crossett box, was fraudulent. The certification gave Kitchens only 85 votes at Crossett whereas 112 votes have been sworn that they cast their ballots for him.

This line of testimony will continue, Kitchens' attorneys said.

In view of the testimony of witnesses Wednesday, the Citizens Committee appointed at a mass meeting held recently to demand criminal prosecutions of the perpetrators of the pilfering of the returns, it is said, received the testimony with considerable interest. A member of that committee said that all election officials and others who deserve prosecution should be indicted and that all possible effort would be made by the committee to that end.

Picket Lines Are Drawn Up in Paterson, N. J., Thursday

FOR CLOSED SHOP

Hours and Wages Also Issue—Textile Board to Investigate

PATERSON, N. J.—(AP)—Practically every dye shop in the Paterson area was unable to start operations Thursday as the silk and rayon dyers started a strike which is expected to involve 30,000 dye house employees in the metropolitan area.

The picket lines began marching early Thursday.

The strike, the first major industrial dispute since President Roosevelt made his plea for a truce between labor and capital, was called in an effort to enforce demands for better wages, shorter hours, guaranteed minimum wage, and a closed shop.

From Washington came an announcement that the Textile Labor Board will attempt to settle the strike.

Texarkana Looks for Close Game

20-0 Defeat by Camden Puts Razorbacks on Edge for Hope Friday

George Douthett, in his daily sports column in the Texarkana Gazette, has this to say about the Hope-Texarkana football game to be played here Friday night:

"That 20-0 defeat at Camden last week has not taken a speck off the edge of student enthusiasm at Arkansas high school. They're planning to invade Hope Friday night in great numbers for the Razorbacks' game with the Bobcats."

A special rate on the railroad of 65 cents per round trip, providing 75 tickets for the students and an effort has been made to procure that many. There are possibilities that the 40-piece band may go on the train—it is going one way or another—that's certain—but how hasn't been determined.

It really looks like the biggest Arkansas high invasion of foreign territory in several years and with this, in spite of the fact that the Razorbacks are facing great odds, you can bet it down under the heading of student enthusiasm."

The complete Texarkana record this season follows:

Texarkana 25; Foreman 0.
Texarkana 25; Ashdown 0.
Texarkana 19; Broken Bow 0.
Texarkana 39; Waldo 0.
Texarkana 0; Camden 20.

Doctors Fast Solving Mystery of Vitamins

So rapid is the advance in our knowledge of vitamins that new discoveries come almost daily. Scientists agree that the biggest advances come when the vitamins are isolated in pure form.

When it was found that halibut liver oil was richer than any other substance in vitamin A, it became possible to prepare other concentrated solutions, and consequently preparations have been developed that seem to be almost pure vitamin A.

As a result of studies on these concentrates, it was found that they represent something very much like carotene, the yellow coloring matter of carrots and other vegetables, so that now carotene has been developed as a concentrated form of vitamin A.

It has been found that animals that eat diets deficient in vitamin A develop not only degenerations in the tissues of their respiratory tracts, but also degenerative changes in their nerves.

Of course it has long been known that a complete absence of vitamin A from the diet will result in inflammatory and degenerative changes in the eye. It has also been rather well established that a deficiency in vitamin A in some way lowers the general resistance to infections.

Unfortunately, this does not seem to apply to the practical control of pneumonia, as some people with extraordinary high reserves of vitamin A in their bodies developed cases of pneumonia and some died.

The limits of safety in relationship to the amount of vitamin A taken into the body seem to be extraordinary large. Not a single instance has been reported in which any human being has been harmed by an overdose of vitamin A.

But rats, when given many thousands of times the ordinary protective dose of vitamin A, did develop serious symptoms.

Vitamin B consists of two parts, known as B1 and B2. It is well established that the condition called beriberi, or polyneuritis, can be prevented or successfully treated by giving vitamin B1.

It has been argued that certain types of digestive disorders are common among people who use white flour from which the germ of the wheat, containing vitamin B1, has been removed.

But there are no actual cases in which any direct relationship can be traced.

Nevertheless, animals which are kept constantly on diets deficient in vitamin B1 will lose their appetites and will also seem to demonstrate a lack of proper activity in their bowels.

The second factor in vitamin B is most important in prevention of pellagra. People who suffer with this disease can be relieved by eating quantities of yeast, which is very rich in the vitamin B complex, and also by eating such fresh animal foods as meats, milk, butter, and similar products.

In this volume the war-time premier tells us with German submarine campaign came within inches of forcing England out of the war. Even before the unlimited campaign which brought America into the war was begun, he says, the Germans were sinking ships faster than England could acquire them; in the first half of 1917 the sinkings progressed at an altogether alarming rate.

But the admirals could offer no solution. They were set against the convoy system. It was adopted only

The Claw of the Forgotten Murder

By CARLETON KENDRAKE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

When DAN BLEEKER, publisher of The Blade, learns that CHARLES MORDEN, police reporter, has been mysteriously killed he employs SIDNEY GRIFF, famous criminologist, to solve the murder.

Morden had been investigating the affairs of FRANK B. CATHAY, wealthy and prominent, who had threatened to sue The Blade because the newspaper reported Cathay had been arrested. The man arrested was an impostor, giving the name of CATHAY and accompanied by a girl called MARY BRIGGS.

Soon after Morden is found dead comes news that Cathay is dead—possibly murdered.

Morden's fingerprints are found in the apartment of a girl named ALICE LORTON who has reported the disappearance of her roommate, ESTHER ORDWAY. GRIFF learns that CARL RACINE, detective employed by MRS. CATHAY, is trying to locate a "MRS. BLANCHE MALONE."

GRIFF and Bleeker question Alice Lorton.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIX

THE claw was traveling along a well lighted boulevard. Dan Bleeker leaned back against the leather upholstered seat. "You don't think," he said, "that Esther Ordway took an airplane? I don't see why not. Everything certainly points to it."

GRIFF, who was smoking, did not answer for a moment. Then he asked, "Why do you think she went to all the trouble to take her photographs with her?"

"Because," Bleeker said, "Esther Ordway is none other than Mary Briggs and she knew that the police would recognize her photograph. That's why."

"That, of course," GRIFF told him, "is a possibility. But at the present time that's all it is. When will you hear the result of the post mortem performed on Cathay?"

"This is Saturday night," Bleeker said. "I have an idea the doctors are working on the case right now. They should make a report to the district attorney and the coroner before midnight. We probably won't be able to get a copy of that report before we go to press but we should have it some time in the morning."

"You'll let me know?" asked GRIFF.

"Certainly. And you think it's important to get hold of Esther Ordway's mail?"

"Yes."

"I hate to do it," Bleeker said. "I've got to put a woman on the spot."

"Have you got one who knows her way about?"

"Yes. Ethel West, my secretary, is right up on her toes. She's the sort of girl who can do anything and get away with it."

"You know what she's to do," GRIFF reminded him. "She's to rent an apartment under the name of Esther Ordway and then instruct the post office to forward her mail from the Elite apartments to the new address. She'll have to live there a day or two. I don't want her to stay in the apartment too long, though. It's dangerous. She's to stay there until she's got two or three letters and then she can

Installation Service Is Held at High School Wednesday

An impressive installation service for 19 new members of the Home Economics club was held at the general assembly meeting in Hope High School auditorium Wednesday morning. The service was made more effective by the use of lighted candles and baskets of ivy placed on the darkened stage.

All the officers and new members were dressed in white and "The spirit of Home Economics" were a long white robe with a wreath of ivy in her hair. When the spirit of Home Economics, Floy Mae Weisner, entered, she read Edgar Guest's poem "Life" to the accompaniment of soft music by Regina Baye and Miss Volle Reed.

The president stated the ten aims of the club as she lighted a candle for each aim. Then each of the new members took their oath of allegiance. The aims of our club are:

- To form a connecting link between school and home.
- To help the girl become a womanly woman.
- To help understand and accept responsibility.
- To develop team work.
- To co-operate with all other clubs and departments in the high school.
- To develop personality, leadership, initiative, and social poise.
- To raise the standard of scholarship.

Life's Tests

If never a sorrow came to us, and never a care we knew;
If every hope were realized, and every dream came true;
If only joy were found on earth, and no one ever sighed,
And never a friend proved false to us,
And never a loved one died,
And never a burden bore us down,
Soul-sick and weary, too,
We'd yearn for tests to prove our worth and tasks for us to do.

The Tackey party which had been announced for Thursday evening by Hope chapter, 228 O. E. S., has been postponed, the date to be announced later, through this column.

The third of the series of the church school of the Presbyterian Home Missions was conducted Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock at the church with a splendid attendance. The worship period in the auditorium was in charge of Mrs. Dorsey McRae, who gave a most inspiring devotional followed by two selections by the color quartette, who were introduced by Manuel Glover, a teacher in the colored high school. Following the devotional hour, the various study groups took up their work. The women of the church had for their subject, "The American Indian and the Negro," led by Miss Mamie Twitchell was ably assisted in telling of missions among the Indians, and traced on the map the tracks occupied by the Indians when the white man began his work among them. Miss Twitchell was ably assisted in telling of the progress made in this work by Mrs. Stonequest, Mrs. A. J. Neighbors, and Miss Annie Allen. Mrs. W. M. Cantley touched on the beginning of the work among the negroes. Two very pleasing features of the program were the singing of the "Land of the Sky-Blue Waters" by Mrs. W. Y. Foster Jr., and the reading of a short poem by Dr. Elta Champlin. The meeting closed with the singing of "Old Black Joe" led by Mrs. S. H. Briant. Thursday evening's lesson will open at 6:30 with a plate lunch. The church followed by the worship period in the auditorium and the different study groups. Mrs. K. G. McRae will lead the women's program.

Rev. Jones, rector, will read the Litany service and conduct the study at St. Mark's Episcopal church at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Williams of Sheridan, Ind., spent the past few days in the home of their son, J. R. Williams and Mrs. Williams.

The Senior-Junior High P. T. A. will entertain at a Tackey party Thursday evening at 7:30 in the high school gym. Prizes will be given for the tackiest costumes.

CALIFORNIA AWAITS

party of his own known as the Commonwealth party, in which he had no opposition.

Haight is attacking both the Sinclair and Merriam camps, making a bid for the votes of the progressive Democrats who cannot stomach the strong Sinclair medicine, and for the progressive Democrats who cannot stomach the strong Merriam medicine, and for the progressive Republicans who believe Merriam will be the tool of big business.

Haight Has Slim Chance
By this maneuver he has made some progress, but opinion up to this time does not credit him with enough strength to win and various straw polls have indicated he is taking votes from both opponents in about equal measure, so that his candidacy is not expected to change the relative standing of the two leading contenders.

To understand Sinclair's skyrocket rise, it is necessary to go back to the national election of 1932, which brought him the opportunity he had been waiting for many years. All his adult lifetime he had been struggling to put over his social reforms through the medium of the Socialist party. But, after repeated failures, he came to the realization that he never could succeed that way because the party, its ideas, and its terminology were foreign to American soil, and not understood by the American voter.

Switches to Democrats
He concluded he would have to move his activities into another party. California went Democratic for Franklin D. Roosevelt, hundreds of Republicans registering Democratic to vote for him.

Came the New Deal with its new outlook upon social and economic problems. Its popularity was manifest in this state from the beginning. It presented Upton Sinclair with the opportunity he had been looking for, so he bade his Socialist comrades goodby and adopted the Democratic party.

Some of the Democratic brethren now are saying that he stole the party. True it is that he brought his program with him. True it is also that he embraced every opportunity to link his EPIC (End Poverty In California) plan

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep... Viger... Vitality

Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.
If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and discomfort, or the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and vitality, getting up nights, numbness, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness. If kidneys don't empty, poisons pile every day and get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter, your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may take you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS... a doctor's prescription which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.
But don't take chances with strong drugs or so-called "kidney cures" that claim to fix you up in 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS... the old reliable relief that contains no "dose" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-McMillan Co.

with the New Deal in conception and purpose.

Defeats George Creel
In the primary campaign his effort in that direction was not taken seriously. George Creel, newspaperman and chief of publicity for the Wilson administration during the war, was his principal Democratic opponent. Creel had the tacit but unexpressed support of the Roosevelt administration.

What actually won Sinclair the nomination was the concentrated vote of Southern California, where two-thirds of the state's unemployed and more than half the voters, reside. In the northern half of the state, Creel beat Sinclair by 13,500 votes. But Sinclair's total vote exceeded Creel's by 158,000, indicating his supremacy in the south.

Southern California is the resting ground of many thousands of elderly persons from the middlewest who live upon small, fixed incomes and have leisure to respond to all sorts of idealistic movements.

Wins Idealists' Aid
Their ardent support made Aimee Semple McPherson the world's most famous and successful woman evangelist. They poured their money gladly into the enterprise whereby Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., promised to found the nation's purest newspaper.

Just now, in addition to the Sinclair movement, they are enthusiastically supporting the Townsend plan, which seeks to give every person in the United States over 60 years of age a pension of $200 a month.

The Utopian Sinclair sprang from their midst. It is natural that the Sinclair promise to end poverty should have appealed strongly to both the great army of unemployed and to the kind-hearted and trusting folk transplanted from middlewestern farms to the bungalows of sunny southern California.

BANKS REPLY

of the country and to begin supplying it at once.

Talking to the annual convention of the American Bankers Association he held out the promise that as quickly as the banks are able to assume their task of lending money to industry, just so soon will governmental lending activities be curtailed.

Many who had expected Mr. Roosevelt to give some hint of his future monetary or other plans found few. He confined his talk mostly to the past and present, but did look forward to a future reduction of the relief burden and to a revival of business activity.

The time now has arrived, he said, "for an alliance of all forces intent upon the business of recovery."

Of monetary uncertainty, which the bankers had urged he cleared up, the president did say that he was glad to note the growing appreciation in other nations of the desirability of arriving, as quickly as possible, at a point of steadiness of prices and values.

This passage, which some thought pointed toward stabilization of the currency on an international basis, was contrasted with Mr. Roosevelt's statement of a fortnight ago that such stabilization could not be undertaken until the prices of certain unnamed American commodities had reached a more desirable level.

Jackson Reynolds, president of the First National bank of New York, in introducing the president, himself brought up the question of monetary stabilization, but did so in a way that left Mr. Roosevelt free not to speak on the subject.

Reynolds asked the bankers to let their "secret selves" answer whether they would have the president "at one stroke" tie the our hands vis-a-vis the currencies of Europe and the Orient and risk consolidating into one irresistible program the inflationary demands here, by making a statement today that the very definite stabilization of the dollar effected last January and since maintained should stand for all time under all circumstances?

No Central Bank
WASHINGTON. — (P) — President Roosevelt indicated at his press conference Wednesday in response to inquiries that he was giving no consideration to establishment of a central bank.

Asked his views about such a bank, the president remarked that all he had thought about it was what he had read in the papers.

Should 1935 be a bumper crop year as was 1931, these excess certificates will be worth a great deal to every farmer having a surplus to apply to his crop. Mr. Hiller said:

"The people of Nevada county are earnestly urged to consider at length the value of these things to their county. Times are very trying to many and some annoyances will occur with the best regulated affairs, but the ultimate benefits to the county as a whole is not to be lightly considered, particularly when 95 per cent of the farmers of the county program, not to mention those sharing in other benefits. This is as democratic and just a spread of money among the people as could be hoped for."

Bankers in Truce With Roosevelt

Concessions Made to Financiers by National Administration

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—The administration and the nation's critical banking fraternity reached a definite, if possibly temporary, truce Tuesday and an atmosphere of peace suddenly enveloped the convention of the American Bankers association.

Leo T. Crowley, chairman of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, offered a series of concessions long urged by the bankers, including primarily specific limitation upon a bank's annual payments to the insurance fund.

The association's president, Francis Marion Law, said the banks had cooperated with the administration in the past and pledged co-operation for the future. He said that government bonds offered the soundest investment of the day.

Crowley reviewed the work of the Deposit Insurance Corporation, stressing its efforts to improve the capital structure of the member banks and its insistence upon sound management.

He made these five proposals for future legislation:

Permanent continuance of the present $5,000 limit upon an individual's insurance deposits;

A system of definite annual premium payments by the banks, instead of the present plan under which they are submitted to an unlimited liability;

A requirement that adequate capital structure be made a condition of admission to the fund, in addition to the present test of solvency;

Authority for the corporation to purchase the assets of member banks which find themselves in difficulties; and Authority for the corporation to make rules and regulations to meet developments.

"The government is here to aid you—not to run your business," Crowley said. "The main responsibility for the sound and constructive banking, helpful to the depositor and to the country must always rest on you—and on no one else."

Bouef Spillway Is Inspected by Dern

WAR SECRETARY TRAVELS ROUTE OF MISSISSIPPI FLOOD CONTROL PROJECT

ARKANSAS CITY, Ark.—(AP)—Secretary of War Dern's Mississippi river inspection party Wednesday traveled southward by automobile along the route of the proposed Bouef Basin spillway, described by the secretary as "the most important problem in the flood control program."

Characterizing Mississippi river flood control as "the biggest problem" he had inherited upon becoming Secretary of War, and the proposed spillway as a major item of that problem, Dern declined to make any definite commitments on his attitude toward the spillway feature, or the possibility of substituting cutoffs along the river proper.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks dark, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, and often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

Don't take for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware of a substitute. 50-cent drug stores. ©1931 C.M. Co.

LEONARDTOWN, Md. —(AP)—This little red hen is even with the rooster family. Rats once destroyed her brood of seven chicks. Coming on a nest of young mice, she killed each one with a deliberate peck on the head.

pectedly was arraigned Tuesday on charges of carrying concealed weapons and shooting Police Chief J. H. Fultz with intent to kill.

Handcuffed and heavily guarded, Richetti was brought into the court of Mayor W. H. Daugherty, of Wellsville, from his cell in the city jail here.

He pleaded guilty to carrying concealed weapons and not guilty to shooting to kill. He waived a preliminary hearing and was bound over to the grand jury under bond of $50,000. Mayor Daugherty said Richetti would be taken to the county jail at Libson Wednesday or Thursday.

Richetti was brought into court shortly after federal agents had left the city building where they had been conferring with Chief Fultz in an attempt to obtain custody of Richetti.

Mayor Daugherty asked the prisoner if he knew his constitutional rights and Richetti replied "no sir."

After the mayor's explanation Richetti asked for permission to obtain a lawyer. Richetti reconsidered then said:

"I think I'll plead guilty to carrying concealed weapons."

He would not plead guilty to the other charge and Mayor Daugherty then set bond at $50,000. Richetti was asked if he could raise it and he replied he didn't know.

As the bond was announced, he threw his handcuffed hands above his head, brought them down and placed them before his face in a gesture which appeared to indicate despair.

He then turned and walked away.

Birth Records Now Duty of the State

Parents Urged to Fill in Registration Cards Promptly

LITTLE ROCK—Back in the days when the world was young, when Adam and Eve, Cain and Abel, Moses, Solomon, Noah and his folks, were abroad in the land, birth records were of prime importance, and took their place in history.

Who hasn't struggled through the "begats" and wondered how in the world some of the names should be pronounced? There was no central registration bureau then, but the records were kept, and handed down from generation to generation in an unbroken line.

In time, history shows that records become more exact, but only in recent years the birth registration problem has been assumed by the various states and the study of vital statistics incorporated into the statutes.

Arkansas in 1913 passed the birth registration law, and since that time thousands of the youthful citizens of the state have been registered in the Bureau of Vital Statistics in Little Rock, assuring them they will have no difficulty in the future in proving their age, their legitimacy, their paternity, their right to inherit property, their right to vote and many other things.

However, there was not until now any way in which the efficiency of the State registration could be checked. Through a joint project of the Bureau of Vital Statistics of the State Board of Health, the Federal Bureau of the Census and the Arkansas Emergency Relief Administration, efforts are being made to thoroughly check the records. Baby census cards have been sent to every family in Arkansas asking information about babies born in the past twelve months.

Arkansas parents can assist the agencies a great deal if they will fill in and return the cards immediately, so that the first Arkansas "Register Your Baby" campaign may be a great success.

Miss Virgalene Hodnett and William Hodnett of this place spent the week end with their home folks near Bodcaw.

It Appears Piccard Didn't Really Jump

Parachute Brought Down Big Battery, and Not the Scientist

CADIZ, Ohio —(AP)—The stratosphere flight of the Jean Piccard ended in a treetop late today. The bag of the balloon was badly torn but the gondola and valuable instruments were undamaged and the Piccards were unhurt.

The Piccards, saying they believed the purpose of their flight had been accomplished, brought the huge bag down after a flight that started from Detroit and carried them an estimated 10 miles into the air.

"The flight was a success," said Mrs. Piccard soon after she climbed from the gondola which settled amid trees near an old logging road on the John Fulton farm, 4 1/2 miles southwest of here.

"I am certain the valuable instruments are not seriously injured," she said. "Failure of the sun's rays to penetrate caused the balloon to lose buoyancy and we had to make a landing."

As the first report of the landing was broadcast by farmers it was said Dr. Piccard had taken to a parachute. This proved erroneous, farmers having mistaken a battery, in a bag 18 inches by 36 inches, which was dropped as the balloon neared the ground, for a man.
